I have just been advised that, commencing tomorrow, May 23, the contractor for the building project (Torcon Construction) will modify the fencing around the vacant lot across the street and will also install new fencing around the Fifth Street entrance to the law building. On Wednesday, May 24, general clean-up and site demolition work will begin. As a result, the Fifth Street entrance to the law school will be closed effective tomorrow and all access to the building will henceforth be through the sliding glass doors at the west entrance.
