By my signature below, I acknowledge the following terms and conditions related to enrollment in the Rutgers School of Law-Camden Summer Session:

1. Upon acceptance into the Rutgers School of Law-Camden Summer Session, I will be administratively registered for the course(s) indicated on my application.
2. Upon being registered for courses by the Rutgers law school administration, I automatically become fully liable for payment of all tuition and fees. The University will confirm the act of registration by mailing a tuition bill to the address indicated on my application. The University is not responsible for the non-delivery of billing notices.
3. As a registered student in the Rutgers Law Summer Session, I am fully liable for tuition charges, unless I withdraw from the course or courses in accordance with the procedures and deadlines enumerated below.
4. I acknowledge that failure to submit the tuition payment does not constitute a withdrawal. I understand that I will continue to be billed for courses for which I was initially registered and from which I did not subsequently withdraw.
5. Stopping payment on a check does not constitute withdrawal from Summer Session.
6. Once registered, I may drop a course or courses by contacting Associate Dean John Beckerman (856-225-6546, email: beckerman@camden.rutgers.edu). For each course dropped on or before Friday, May 23, 2008, I will receive a 100% refund of the tuition charge. If I completely withdraw from Summer Session on or before May 23, I will also receive the refundable portion of the student fee.
7. I will be able to drop courses between May 24, and June 2, 2008, but I will only receive a 50% refund of the tuition charge for courses dropped during this period and a "W" will appear on my Rutgers Summer Session academic transcript.
8. For any course I drop after June 3, I will receive no refund of tuition or the student fee.
